

BALTIMORE CITY DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE

Newly Constructed Dwelling Property Tax Credit

Program Purpose and Description

This program was designed to encourage the construction and purchase of new homes in the city. The program provides:

A five-year City real property tax credit (50% in the first taxable year and declining by 10 percentage points thereafter) on newly constructed or substantially rehabilitated dwellings if the property has not been previously occupied by owner or tenant since its construction or rehabilitation. In order for a substantially rehabilitated dwelling to be eligible for this credit, it must contain no more than four dwelling units and have been cited by the City's Department of Housing and Community Development as being vacant and abandoned for more than one year or been owned by the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore for one year and in need of substantial repair to comply with applicable City codes. This tax credit is non-transferable and only applies if the owner is the first party to purchase the newly constructed dwelling after its completion.

If someone owns a previously vacant building, has rehabilitated that building while owning it and would now like to apply for a property tax credit for the rehabilitated property, please see the fact sheet for Vacant Dwelling Homeowners Property Tax Credit. That credit program applies when the owner of the property has rehabilitated the property and continues to occupy it.

Qualifications

Owners of newly constructed dwellings may qualify for this tax credit by:

- Purchasing a newly constructed or substantially rehabbed dwelling that has not previously been occupied.
- Occupying that dwelling as their principal residence for the duration of the credit period (as their principal residence, this would be the address reported on their income tax returns).
- Filing an application for the tax credit within 90 days of settling on the purchase of the dwelling OR within 90 days after the State Department of Assessments and Taxation issues the first assessment notice reflecting the value of the new construction.

Credit Calculation

A property tax credit granted under this program may not exceed the amount of City property tax imposed on the property, less the amount of any other credit applicable in that year, multiplied by the appropriate percentage. See the example below.

	City Taxes	Credit %	Credit Amount
Column Calculation	(1)	(2)	(3) (1) x (2)

Year 1	$2,000	50%	$1,000
Year 2	$2,000	40%	$800
Year 3	$2,000	30%	$600
Year 4	$2,080	20%	$416
Year 5	$2,163	10%	$216

How the Re-Assessment and Credit Application Process Works

- When someone purchases a newly constructed residential dwelling, he or she might not know at the time of purchase what the real property assessment for the new home will be. Often, the only assessment generally available at the time of purchase is the old assessment for the parcel, prior to the new construction.
- At some point after the completion of the newly constructed dwelling, the State Department of Assessments and Taxation (SDAT) will reassess the property to incorporate the new construction into the assessment value. It can take weeks or months for SDAT to perform the reassessment.
- The new homeowner must submit his or her application for this tax credit with the City either within 90 days of settlement on the purchase of the home or within 90 days of SDAT issuing the first assessment notice reflecting the value of the new construction (see Application Procedures on page 4 for more information). When the homeowner submits the application to the Bureau of Revenue Collections (BRC) it will be date-stamped.
- A homeowner can contact SDAT at 410-767-8250 or www.dat.state.md.us to find out whether the assessment of the new construction has been completed.
- On the tax credit application, the homeowner is asked whether they would like the tax credit to apply immediately in the year of purchase or whether they would like the first year of the tax credit to apply in the subsequent tax year (the tax year runs from July 1 through June 30). This is because:
 - the current year's taxes might be based, for at least part of the year, on the old assessment value, which would yield less of a credit than the new reassessed value that will be applied at a later date; and
 - depending on the time of year when the home was purchased, the new owner might be responsible for only a partial year of taxes, which, again, would yield less of a credit than a full year's taxes.
- Upon receipt of the tax credit application, BRC will review the eligibility of the applicant and notify the applicant via letter or email whether they are approved or disapproved for the credit. If they are disapproved, the reason for disapproval will be provided.
- If an applicant is approved for the tax credit and the application materials do not include a copy of the new assessment notice, then BRC will check the assessment system to see whether the property has been assessed to reflect the value of the new construction. If a new assessment is noted in the SDAT system or if a copy of the new assessment notice has been provided with the application, then the application will be processed. If a new assessment has not yet been entered into the SDAT system, then BRC will hold the application in a pending file and check the SDAT system bi-weekly to see whether the assessment has been entered. Once an assessment has been entered, then the tax credit application will be processed.

- An application for this tax credit is not processed until the State has completed its assessment of the newly constructed dwelling. Before processing any newly constructed tax credit application, BRC will confirm with the applicant whether he or she wants the credit to apply in the current tax year or for the subsequent tax year.
- If the State performs the new assessment during the first half of the tax year (July through December), then the homeowner will be billed prospectively for a partial year (6 months) of State property taxes under the new assessed value. The homeowner will be billed prospectively for a partial year (3, 6, or 9 months) of City property tax under the new assessed value, depending on when the assessment is completed.
